Topic: Enterprise

What's been going on?

We can't believe it's almost Christmas! Dover Class are really looking forward to a restful break after a very busy term.

This term, Dover Class embarked on their Doveroo enterprise project. Through this project, students learned about handling money and interpreting order information. They also worked hard to master their 2, 5, and 10 times tables to solve Christmas-themed calculations and money problems.

At the beginning of November, Dover Class successfully pitched their Doveroo (hot drink and cake delivery service) idea to the Senior Management Team and secured a £70 investment. To promote the project, students created eye-catching posters and menus to advertise the 'Cake of the Week'. Students also honed their communication skills by answering questions from staff, taking orders in person, and making phone calls.

Throughout the project, students took on various roles and responsibilities. They followed recipes to make cakes, labelled coffee cups with customer names and orders, collected money, and delivered orders around the school. The teamwork and social skills demonstrated by the students have been fantastic. Our students are beginning to understand the hard work involved in making money and having a job. To date, Doveroo has made a profit of £204. We are extremely proud of this achievement and have made more than enough money to go for a meal out. However, due to high demand from staff, Doveroo will make their last two deliveries in January.

Here are some quotes from students about their experiences:

- "I enjoyed counting the money we made" - Casey
- "I learnt how to stay safe in the kitchen" - Charlie
- "I enjoyed delivering the cakes" - Spencer
- "I liked writing the order labels for the cups" - Ashrith
- "I learnt that you have to work hard to make money" - Ruben
- "I enjoyed visiting other classes to take and deliver orders" - Tyler
- "I enjoyed delivering and making people happy" - Kourtney
- "I liked shopping for ingredients and delivering orders" - Dylan
- "I was good at shopping and finding the best deals" - Riley
- "I enjoyed following recipes to make cakes" - Thomas
- "I liked working as part of a team" - Oliver

Thank you to those who were able to attend the Dover Christmas Event. The class enjoyed making hot drinks and sharing the jam tarts they had made with you. It was wonderful to see students sharing their learning, celebrating the success of our enterprise, and proudly giving you tours of the classroom.

We wish you a wonderful Christmas break and a very Happy New Year!
